HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS
AND
Hoofland's German Tonic.
The Great Remedies for all Diseases of the LIVER, STOMACH, OR DIGESTIVE ORGANS.
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS
Is composed of the pure juices (or, as they are medicinally termed, Extracts,) of Roots, Herbs, and Barks, making a preparation, highly concentrated, and entirely free from alcoholic admixture of any kind.
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC,
Is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters, with the purest quality of Santa Cruz Rum, Orange, &c., making one of the most pleasant and agreeable cordials ever offered to the public.
Those preferring a Medicine free from Alcoholic admixture, will use
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.
Those who have no objection to the combination of the bitters, as stated, will use
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC.
They are both equally good, and contain the same medicinal virtues, the choice between the two being a mere matter of taste, the Tonic being the most palatable.
The stomach, from a variety of causes, such as indigestion, Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility, etc., is very apt to have its functions deranged. The Liver, sympathizing as closely as it does with the stomach, is generally affected as the result of which is that the patient suffers from several or more of the following diseases:
Constipation, Flatulence, Inward Piles, Fulness of Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust for Food, Fulness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried or Difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or Suffocating Sensations when in a lying posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Back, Chest, Limbs, etc., Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh, Constant Imaginings of Evil, and Great Depression of Spirits.
The sufferer from these diseases should exercise the greatest caution in the selection of a remedy for his case, purchasing only that which he is assured from his investigations and inquiries possesses true merit, is skillfully compounded, is free from injurious ingredients, and has established for itself a reputation for the cure of these diseases. In this connection we would submit these well known remedies—
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS,
AND
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC,
Prepared by DR. C. M. JACKSON,
PHILADELPHIA, PA.
Twenty-two years since they were first introduced into this country from Germany, during which time they have undoubtedly performed more cures, and benefited suffering humanity to a greater extent, than any other remedies known to the public.
These remedies will effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, Chronic Diarrhœa, Diseases of the Kidneys, and all Diseases arising from a disordered Liver, Stomach, or Intestines.
DEBILITY,
Resulting from any Cause whatever; PROSTRATION OF THE SYSTEM, induced by Severe Labor, Accident, Exposure, Fevers, &c.
There is no medicine extant equal to these remedies in such cases. A tone and vigor is imparted to the whole system, the appetite is strengthened, food is enjoyed, the stomach digests promptly, the blood is purified, the complexion becomes sound and healthy, the yellow tinge is removed from the eyes, a bloom is given to the cheeks, and the weak and nervous invalid becomes a strong and healthy being.
PERSONS ADVANCED IN LIFE,
And feeling the hand of time weighing heavily upon them, with all its attendant ills, will find in the use of this BITTERS, or the TONIC, an elixir that will instil new life into their veins, restore in a measure the energy and ardor of more youthful days, build up their shrunken forms, and give health and happiness to their remaining years.
NOTICE.
It is a well established fact that fully one half of the female portion of our population are seldom in the enjoyment of good health; they are languid, devoid of all energy, extremely nervous, and have no appetite.
To this class of persons the BITTERS, or the TONIC, is especially recommended.
WEAK AND DELICATE CHILDREN,
Are made strong by the use of either of these remedies. They will cure every case of MARASMUS, without fail.
Thousands of certificates have accumulated in the hands of the proprietor, but space will allow of the publication of but a few. These, it will be observed, are men of note and of such standing that they must be believed.

TESTIMONIALS.
HON. GEORGE W. WOODWARD,
Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pa., writes:
Philadelphia, March 18, 1867.
"I find 'Hoofland's German Bitters' is a good tonic, useful in dyspepsia and of great benefit in cases of debility, and want of nervous action in the system.
Yours, truly, GEO. W. WOODWARD."
HON. JAMES THOMPSON,
Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.
Philadelphia, April 28, 1868.
"I consider 'Hoofland's German Bitters' a valuable medicine in case of attacks of Indigestion or Dyspepsia. I can certify this from my experience of it. Yours, with respect, JAMES THOMPSON."
FROM REV. JOSEPH H. KENNARD, D. D.,
Pastor of the Tenth Baptist Church, Philadelphia.
Dr. Jackson—Dear Sir: I have been frequently requested to connect my name with recommendations of different kinds of medicines, but regarding the practice as out of my appropriate sphere, I have in all cases declined; but with a clear proof in various instances and particularly in my own family, of the usefulness of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I depart for once from my usual course, to express my full conviction that, for general debility of the system, and especially for Liver Complaint, it is a safe and valuable preparation. In some cases it may fail; but usually, I doubt not, it will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above causes.
Yours, very respectfully,
J. H. KENNARD,
Eighth, below Coates St.
FROM REV. E. D. FENDALL.
Assistant Editor Christian Chronicle, Philadelphia.
I have derived decided benefit from the use of Hoofland's German Bitters, and feel it my privilege to recommend them as a most valuable tonic, to all who are suffering from general debility or from diseases arising from derangement of the liver.
Yours truly, E. D. FENDALL.

SHOPPING.

She stood beside the counter—
The day I'll ne'er forget,
She thought the muslin dearer
Than any she'd seen yet;
I watched her playful fingers
The silk and satin toss;
The clerk looked quite uneasy,
And nodded at the boss;
"Show me some velvet ribbon,
Barege and satin turk,"
She said, "I want to purchase!"
Then give the goods a jerk.
The clerk was all obedience,
He traveled "on his shape;"
At length, with hesitation,
She bought a stick of tape.

Sober Thoughts for the Country.

MESSRS. EDITORS.—Public excitement with regard to the one question of the day—that of impeachment—seems to be at a standstill in the capital, except in the immediate vicinity of the capitol, when the Senate is in judicial session. The country, as well as the city, is heartily tired of it. But its mark is heavily felt in business circles, and it only sleeps that it may awake as the finale approaches.

There are some thoughts relating to it, and illustrated by it, however, which very much need to be said—to be said now, and to be said by our religious press. They are thoughts which are applicable to men of both parties; and in the expression, they are here without partisanship. In ordinary times, and much more in periods of high excitement, we are too apt to regard all the national issues which arise, in the blaze of passion and party prejudice, rather than in the clear steady light of reflection and candid judgment. As in the selection of candidates for office, as a rule, availability rather than moral and political capability is considered, so in the decision of our political issues party necessity, or expediency, rather than abstract moral right, is too often made to decide the question in our minds, and consequently in our votes. Little room is left, in the operation of party machinery, for the independent exercise of our moral sense. We must vote as party goes, else we are denounced as untrue and weak-kneed, and not trustworthy. Failure to approve and endorse every party movement which expediency may demand, is met with reproach, and too often with personal abuse. This is so called party discipline—and it is strict, to the verge of tyranny. As a people, we are in admirable training. Our leaders have little else to do than pull the reins to the right or left, while the press lashes the refractory with delightsome zest; and fierce party men run beside the balky with clubs and stones, till the party car gets clean through the mud or over the stones. And not unfrequently religious men are so carried away with party zeal, that it is as much as one's good fame is worth among his party friends to dare to hold and express an independent view that his party leaders have not mapped out for his guidance. To be "shaky," is to be unsound and unreliable. It won't do for the party leaders to allow any body to be shaky. Every body must stand up to the rack; and more especially if that body, who ever he may be, should chance to be a man in political life, holding office or aspiring there.

The illustration of this in the present state of affairs is striking in the extreme. Take facts as they are admitted by all. The present crisis in our national life is most serious. We are moving on experimental ground hitherto untrodden. The President is on trial for his political life. The Senate, with the Chief Justice presiding, are trying him. An eminent English statesman is reported as having said that, under different governments from ours, such a state of affairs usually ends in revolution. The President may prove to be a Cromwell or a Charles. He may overthrow or be overthrown. Upon the decision of the Senate depends the issue. On that issue the national peace, perhaps its existence, trembles. How shall the question be decided? Shall it be upon the ground of party ascendency, or of abstract legal justice?

Suppose now that any one of the Senators belonging to the opposition should feel it to be his duty, under his oath as a judge in this case, to vote for conviction, how would that vote be regarded by his party? This is a question which doubtless every such member is forced to consider. Would it be tolerated by the party powers? Would any have the moral courage to face the personal issue relating to himself, which such a course would raise. We would fain hope that every Senator would be just enough to decide the question on the abstract justice or injustice of the case, aside from the pressure of party necessity. Is this too much to hope in the present condition of party conflict?

On the other hand, suppose any Senator of the party in power should feel it to be his duty to vote against conviction, how would his case stand before the eyes of his party? We have indications of the nature of such decision already presented to us. In the case of the Chief Justice, sitting on the very throne of judicial power, by reason of several acts, he has already been denounced as prejudiced—as being influenced by personal considerations; and scheming for political preference has been widely attributed to him by certain portions of the press. The party screw is thus being applied even to him, indirectly at least. What if any of the Republican Senators should falter? Will the country sustain them, or in hesitating, will they not pronounce their own political doom? If the President should be convicted and removed, the undivided power of the government would fall into the hands of the party convicting him, during the course of the coming political campaign. In view of the unreconstructed position of the Southern States, many party men boldly declare such a course to be an absolute necessity for the safety of the country. And they regard what they are pleased to suppose the ultimate safety of the nation to require, as rising in its demands above any strict operation of judicial logic. To fail to convict the "illustrious respondent," they argue, would insure the downfall of the party, and that would insure the downfall of the principles of liberty in the land.

Can we ever be self-possessed enough to remember that the only security of any nation lies in doing justly before God? Is the moral sense of the nation so dead, or so befogged by the mists of party excitement, or so fettered by the chains of party discipline, that the Christian people in the land will fail to sustain in their estoem and confidence those who dare to do what seems right and just to them, even though it may seem to bear unfavourably for the time upon great interests immediately at stake. The future is long, and what course may best insure justice, and truth, and security to the nation, is known only to God. Our duty is simply to be faithful to right and truth, and to abide the result. The end does not sanctify the means.

Under the present pressure of affairs, in the midst of what is always an exciting and trying season, that of the Presidential campaign, no sober sight could be afforded, nor one more brilliantly illustrating the intrinsic rectitude and stability of our national institutions, than the acquittal of the President, if the evidence and argument thereon should fail of rendering his conviction a clear duty to the nation. It would display the majesty of justice, and the independence of our free institutions in such a light before the eyes of the world that none could either fail to admire our present, or cease to repose confidence in our future. And we have assurance enough of the power of the moral sense existing in the midst of our people to insure the sustaining of such a course, on the part of those who dared to do right, notwithstanding the political clamor of those whose intolerance would transform our liberty into tyranny, could they but rule. For there is no tyranny more galling and more intolerant than that of party spirit seeking its own ends. Its iron rod is that of selfish ambition, that is alike insatiable and fanatical. It is insatiable because it never ceases to cry "Give, give;" it is fanatical, because it runs its own ambition under the guise of a conscientious principle, or the demands of abstract human rights; shouting for the people, but driving for self. But, on the other hand, if the President be clearly found guilty of wilful infraction of the laws of the land, and of malfeasance in his high office, then his conviction by his judges will be sustained as just and right by those who can so far divest themselves of partizanship as to look upon the truth that ever lies between extremes, no matter to which party they may belong.

The question at issue in the trial at hand, is not whether the President has forsaken the party that elected him, clogged the wheels of its legislation, and thrown himself in the path of its progress and its prosperity; nor, indeed, is it the more serious question as to whether he is responsible for the delay of the healing of our national wound until it has become a chronic ulcer; nor is he upon these grounds to be convicted in this trial. Neither, on the other hand, is the question, as others may view it, whether he has opposed oppressive enactments and stood up for the rights of the downfallen, and saved the Executive Department of the government from absorption by the Legislature; nor is he on this ground to be acquitted in this trial. Yet these are the political aspects in which he is regarded by those of opposing parties. To decide in this case, as governed simply by these views, would be to decide in a spirit of partizanship.

The question in which he is being tried, however, is simply one of law. Has the President broken the law, and in so doing, defied it, and drawn his own sword against justice as enacted in the codes? It involves the legal question as to the dividing line between the authority of the Executive and Legislative department of the government. It is the interpretation of the Constitution which is in legal dispute, as well as the intention of the President, in pursuing a course which seems to be in conflict with legislative enactment. This is the abstract question. Of course, its political relations are most important. But it should confessedly be decided not by political preference, but by constitutional justice. And we should all bear this in mind, in regarding the question at issue, and in preparing ourselves for the decision, and the issues to grow out of it. When this matter is thus in course of solemn judicial decision, it will not be very modest in any of us to be too dogmatical in our decision of the question beforehand, nor will it be right to regard the decision simply in the light of partisans, rather than as those who love and respect the law, and adhere to justice as just for all times. For mere partisan decisions are liable to be turned against those who have rendered them. Nothing is more frequent than for such instruments to be the guillotines of their builders.

Now, in writing down these suggestions, we have endeavored to divest ourselves, for the time, of party feeling, seeking to look at the subject calmly and soberly, as every Christian man should, without expressing party preference. We doubt very much, nor do we care, whether all that has been said shall commend itself to partisans on either side of the question. Men have not much tolerance for any one who does not take their side on all points, and run the sword in up to the hilt. But in in view of events which impend, and which may or may not occur, the sober judgment of good men must see that the present is no time to be acting rashly, or to permit enthusiasm or partisanship to outstrip reason and right on either party side. We now need cool heads and steady hands. Above all, we need the Divine presence and direction, not only in our own hearts, but in the national councils, and with all who hold power in high places. We are safe, as a people, only when living near to God. We should not be slow to lay hold, by earnest, constant prayer, upon the arm of God; for whatever may come, our destinies are in his hand, and not in those of our leaders. And we may well be grateful for that.

HAWKEYE.

SOMEWHAT EMBARRASSED.—A young lady stepped into one of the street cars the other day, and dropped her handkerchief upon a vacant seat, as much as to say "taken," while she advanced to the other end of the car to deposit her fare. Meantime a nicely dressed young man jumped in and sat down on the handkerchief without observing it. The young lady, after paying her fare, turned back, discovered to her chagrin her seat was occupied, and sat down opposite, ladies making room for her. But she did not desire to lose her handkerchief, so she looked intently toward the place where she had left it, hesitating whether to ask for it or not. Discovering the direction of her looks, all eyes on the opposite side of the car were soon bent on the young man. Finding himself the object of so much attention, he himself looked, and discovered to his horror something white on which he sat, the end peeping out. He mistook its character. To cover it with his hand, and to tuck it nicely away, was the work of a few moments. None in the car but the young lady knew that the "something white" was a handkerchief, and hesitating still more to ask him, she lost it.

☞The New York Gazette concludes a plea to "plump women" as follows: But whatever education our girls have, let us have less of it. American girls are notorious for their pallor and frailty, and tendency to wither and lose their charms at an early age. This country has no greater want at the present time than of plump girls and plump women. Let us have them plump and healthy, whether they know anything or not. We can teach their children what they don't know if necessary; by all means let us have rosy, blooming, solid women. The Pacific railroad is not half so important to the prosperity of this country as the aggregate avoirdupois of its women. The female sex of America ought to weigh at least half as much again as it does now.

☞The report of the "38th Annual Conference" of the Mormons says an effort is being made to bring over from Europe this season at least 5,000 adults. Elder Smith advised the abandonment of the use of "swine's meat," in which Brigham Young warmly seconded him. The increase of the culture of fish was urged, and the multiplication of chickens. On home manufactures the cultivation of silk was recommended, and so was the planting of mulberry trees. President Young wanted to see the ladies come to another conference with their straw hats and bonnets of their own manufacture.

☞Mr. Samuel Scott, formerly of Allegheny county, now of Tullahoma, Tennessee, sends the Pittsburgh Gazette the price of a year's subscription. This is the eighty-third year the Gazette has been taken in the family of which Mr. Scott is a member. His father was one of its original subscribers, and saw the first paper printed west of the Allegheny mountains. As he invariably paid for the pleasure of reading his news, not defrauding the printer as many do, the son, who follows his example, takes much pride in referring to his family record as newspaper supporters.

A SPY IN CAMP.—A case is noted in an exchange paper, of a lady agent going round selling ladies' "corsets," fitting them at remarkable low prices. The cheapness of the work in some cases, and the decided partiality shown some of the more beautiful, aroused suspicion, and on the lady's being arrested she was found to be a young man in disguise—fitting and selling just for the fun of the thing. He says he has passed through Maryland, Delaware and Pennsylvania, and fitted corsets to several thousand young ladies.

☞It is represented that Mr. Wade had talked with nobody upon cabinet making, and to those who speak to him of the result of the trial, he says that he won't count his chickens till they are hatched. It will be somewhat difficult to make a brilliant cabinet for a term which lasts only ten months. It is proposed by some that for the Treasury and State Departments men shall be selected who meet with the approval of Gen. Grant, so as to make sure of permanence.

A French Romance.

One of these little romances of which the French are so fond, has lately taken place in Paris, and is thus described in a journal:—M. Robert, an immensely wealthy and highly accomplished elegant, well known not only for his valuable collections of paintings and mediœval relics, but for his rare skill as a designer and painter, hearing that one of his tenants, a Mr. B., whom he had never seen, kept one of the most extensive ateliers of fancy boxes and ornamental objects in France, called on him, with a view to make his acquaintance.

Entering the counting-room, he found a good-natured, eccentric gentleman of middle age, who greeted him, and exclaimed:

"I suppose that you have also seen my advertisement, and come to apply for that situation as designer?"

For a joke, Mr. Robert replied that he had. M. B. supplied him with paints and brushes, and requested him to produce a design for a casket. Mr. Robert soon found that what Mr. B. really wanted was an artist who would strictly carry out his own ideas, and that these were pure, and formed on an extensive knowledge of art. In a short time he produced a sketch, which suited the employer to a dot—"a point."

M. Robert very gravely engaged himself, exacting good wages, and insisted on having several new articles of furniture placed in the room which was assigned to him. But when he was introduced to the work rooms and found one hundred and fifty girls, many of them young and beautiful, busily employed, and was informed that he would be required to supply them with designs and show the young ladies how they were to be carried out, the young artist began to feel as if he should have to be carried out himself—being very susceptible.

"Working for a living," said he to himself, is not entirely devoid of attraction. Let us work."

M. Robert being an accomplished artist, delighted his employer, and he soon found a remarkable fascination in seeing his designs realized in steel, silver, enamel, or wood. He took a pleasure hitherto unknown in seeing his work in shop windows and finding them in the boudoirs of his friends.—The workshop life was of course carefully concealed from "society," nor did his employer suspect his artist was his landlord. But M. Robert soon found a more intense object of fascination in the daughter of M. B., a young lady who also took part in the duties of the atelier. This damsel was as remarkable for her accomplishments as for her extraordinary beauty, and M. Robert soon found that as regarded taste and culture in all matters which especially interested him he had never met with any one like her. Step by step, the pair fell in love, and little by little the artist so ingratiated himself with the father that the latter, after due deliberation, consented to their union.

Previous to the marriage the old gentleman one day spoke of a dowry. "I shall give Maria 50 thousand francs, said he, with a little air of boasting.—"Eh, mon garcon?"

"And I suppose," added Mr. Robert, gravely "that I, too; must settle something on my wife. Well—I will."

This caused a peal of laughter, which was redoubled when the artist added:

"And I will settle this piece of property, house and all, with the building adjoining, on her."

But what was their amazement when M. Robert drew forth the title deeds, and said:

"You seem to forget that I am your landlord? Isn't my name Robert?"

The young lady did not faint, but papa nearly died of astonishment and joy. There was a magnificent wedding, but the bridegroom has not given up business. He declares that there is as much amusement in being useful as in amusing one's self.

UNGRATEFUL CHILDREN.—An Eastern proverb which declares that there are no ungrateful children, is nearer the truth than it appears. It is but another version of the Biblical maxim: "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will never depart from it." The parent who does really train up a child in the way he should go, is the parent who truly deserves the gratitude of his child, and he is the only parent who can hope to receive it in full measure. How many parents there are, who, after indulging their children's every desire, are sincerely astonished to find them making no return of love and gratitude. Gratitude! For what should they be grateful? For an impaired digestion? For a will uncurbed? For a mind empty? For hands unskilful? For a childhood wasted? For the chance of forming a noble character lost? These are poor claims upon the gratitude of a child. Bring up your child so that, at mature age, he has a sound constitution, healthy desires and an honest heart, a well-formed mind, good manners, and a useful calling, and you may rely upon his making you such a rich return of grateful affection as shall a thousand times repay you for the toil and self-denial which such a training costs. No—there are no ungrateful children, when there is anything to be grateful for.

☞The Boston Transcript says that many of the most enterprising and successful merchants of that city are at their places of business an hour earlier than hundreds who are just aspiring to be their successors. So it is everywhere. Success can only be obtained by working for it, whether that success be desired in business or in any other pursuit.

WM. LEWIS, HUGH LINDSAY, } EDITORS.

OUR CANDIDATES:

FOR PRESIDENT,

U. S. GRANT.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

A. G. CURTIN.

FOR AUDITOR GENERAL,

GEN. JOHN F. HARTRANFT,

OF MONTGOMERY COUNTY.

FOR SURVEYOR GENERAL,

GEN. JACOB M. CAMPBELL,

OF CAMBRIA COUNTY.

☞Hon. Galusha A. Grow has been appointed Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee. George W. Johnston, Esq., is the member of the Committee from this county.

☞If Mr. Wade should be nominated for Vice President we will give him our support without expecting to be appointed P. M. at this place. How will it be with you, neighbor "organ?"

MEETING OF THE STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE.—The Republican State Central Committee will meet at the rooms of the National Union Club, No. 1105 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, at two o'clock, p. m., on Tuesday the 12th of May, 1868. A full attendance is desired. GALUSHA A. GROW, Chairman State Central Committee.

☞Massachusetts has again repudiated Female Suffrage. The Judiciary Committee of the Massachusetts House, which for some days had been hearing arguments for and against female suffrage, on Tuesday reported unanimously against it, and both Houses agreed to the report. This is the third time that the Massachusetts Legislature has rejected female suffrage.

☞The business season has commenced and yet we hear from every city and town in this State, and from every other State, "dull times—hundreds and thousands of laborers and mechanics out of employment." No country can prosper—no town can prosper, unless the consumers have employment at living wages. To build up a town, the first step to be taken should be to secure employment for all willing to work. Unless confidence is soon restored, the rich will become richer and the poor poorer.

☞The impeachment trial seems to be attracting some attention in England; but much less than might have been reasonably anticipated. The British press are perhaps a little shy of predicting the destruction of our government from any course that may be pursued by parties in this country, after the experience which the past few years has given them. The tone of the London Gazette, however, shows that they have not much sympathy with the prosecution. It says, that the American people are growing weary of the trial, and that the movement will not be likely to benefit the Republican party.

☞Andrew Gregg Curtin, our choice for Vice President, belongs to the Keystone State. Her history has been made doubly brilliant by the wise and successful administration of Ex-Governor Curtin during the events of the late war. To him rightly belongs the title of "The Soldier's Friend," for no one labored with greater zeal for their welfare. Attentive to their wants in the field and hospital, he earned immortal fame for his kindness, and to-day widows and orphans of the fallen speak his praise. Familiar as a household word, the name of Curtin is spoken of in every hamlet in the State as the fittest of all others to be placed beside his compatriot Grant.

MEETING OF THE SUPREME COURT.—The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania will meet in Harrisburg on May 4, 1868. The following is the list of the counties of the Middle District, with the return days:

First Monday of May—Lancaster, York and Adams.

Second Monday of May—Cumberland, Perry, Franklin, Fulton, Bedford and Somerset.

Third Monday—Dauphin, Lebanon, Centre, Mifflin, Juniata, Huntingdon and Blair.

Fourth Monday—Cases specially assigned.

☞Gen. Jacob M. Campbell, our candidate for Surveyor General, entered a company of the three months' volunteers, of which he was elected first lieutenant, and was the officer who assisted to pitch the first tent in Camp Curtin. At the expiration of the three months' service, Lieut. Campbell organized and was made Colonel of the Fifty-fourth Regiment, P. V. After being in the field only a short time, Col. Campbell was ordered to the command of a Brigade, which he led in many a hard fight for a year and a half, retaining the confidence of his subordinate officers as a man of bravery and a soldier of ability. March 13, 1865, Col. Campbell was made a brevet Brigadier General. In view of the above fact, so honorable to a deserving soldier, we give Brigadier General Campbell his proper rank at the head of our editorial columns.

The Impeachment.

The trial of the President is not yet closed. Mr. Stanberry, for the President, closed on Saturday. Mr. Bingham, one of the Managers, commenced on Monday. He closes the argument; still it is the opinion of some men at Washington that the "case" will not be disposed of until after the adjournment of the Republican Convention to be held at Chicago on the 20th. It has been given out in political circles that Mr. Wade, if made President before the nominations for President and Vice President are made, may, with the influence of his office, control the nomination for Vice President. Of course other candidates will not want Mr. Wade to have an advantage over them, and they may use their influence to have final action in the impeachment case postponed until after the Convention makes nominations.

There is no certainty that the President will be convicted. Bets are freely offered at Washington that the President will not be convicted, and they are as freely taken.

HONOR THE BRAVE.—The Republican State ticket again presents two patriotic sons for the suffrages of the people—General Hartranft and General Campbell. They have been re-chosen for the respective positions which they filled so ably the last two years. They have won the esteem and confidence not only of the party to which they belong, but also of the people at large; and we have no fears that their respective majorities will be greatly increased over the first. When we have such good men in position, it is well that they should be rewarded by an appreciative public. With the nomination of General U. S. Grant, whose name is now a household word, and Ex. Governor (we were almost going to say General, because he is so generally and popularly known,) we would have a ticket strong and good, with little probability of its defeat if both parties worked alike earnestly.

☞Houston county, in Georgia with a colored majority of 2,000 votes, lately elected the whole Democratic ticket. Three years ago, Thad. Stevens said that the negroes of the South, when left alone, would vote with their old masters.

"THE GOOD OLD TIMES".—Thurlow Weed writes a letter to the last week's Recorder, published at Catskill, N. Y., his native town, in which he narrates some pleasing reminiscences. The following extract, in reference to the life of a debtor, at the beginning of the present century, will be of interest now-a-days:

"In those days, hard as it may seem now, poor men, however honest, lived in dread of Imprisonment! My father was one of a class whom ill fortune tracked through life. He worked hard, but never prospered. His horse was always sick, or lame, or was backing the cart off the Dock. The Debtor's Prison, therefore, was ever staring us in the face. But there was this blessed mitigation of the horrors of a Debtors' Prison. There were Gaol Liberties connected with the prison, of which a debtor, with a reputation for honesty, and a wealthy friend who would sign his bond to remain upon the 'Limits,' might avail himself. The Limits, accurately defined, extended to business parts of the Village, so that a poor man stood some chance of keeping the wolf from devouring his wife and children. This, however, was not the full measure of the Law's humanity. On Sunday the debtor was free! And on these days of jubilee I used to roam with my enfranchised father, down to the 'Point,' over to the Shad Fishery, or up to Jefferson, with a deep sense of gratitude that he was permitted, one day in the week, to walk God's earth, and breathe His atmosphere, unrestrained. Creditors were on the watch, always, for truant debtors, who sometimes failed to return to the Limits before 12 o'clock on Sunday night.

General Grant.

SIR:—Having of late heard many uncharitable remarks in regard to the intemperate habits of General Grant, and having seen the article in your paper of Friday, upon the subject, I cannot longer refrain from giving my testimony in behalf of so great a man, whom I believe to have been so vilely traduced. During the first three years of the war I was actively identified with the Western branch of the Sanitary Commission, and had abundant opportunity of judging for myself in regard to the character and ability of many of our generals. During the entire campaign of the opening of the Mississippi it was my privilege to aid in caring for our noble patriots, both in hospitals and in camps, and I have been for weeks together where I saw General Grant daily, heard his name constantly, and never did I hear intemperance mentioned in connection with it. Facts are stubborn things.—I will relate a few of the many that came directly to own knowledge: In the winter of 1862-3, when the army arrived at Memphis, after long, weary marching, and trials that sicken the heart to think of, two-thirds of the officers and soldiers were in hospitals. General Grant was lying sick at the Gayoso Hotel. One morning Mrs. Grant came into the ladies' parlor, very much depressed, and said the medical director had just been to see Mr. Grant, and thought he would not be able to go any further if he did not stimulate. Said she: "And I cannot persuade him to do so; he says he will not die, and he will not touch a drop upon any consideration." In less than a week he was on board the advance boat on the way to Vicksburg.

Again, a few months after I was on board the headquarters boat at Milliken's Bend, where a lively gathering of officers and ladies had assembled.—Cards and music were the order of the evening. General Grant sat in the ladies' cabin, leaning upon a table covered with innumerable maps and routes to Vicksburg, wholly absorbed in contemplation of the great matter before him. He paid no attention whatever to what was going on around neither did any one dare to interrupt him; for hours he sat thus, until the loved and lamented McPherson stepped up to him with a glass of liquor in his hand, and said: "General, this won't do, you are injuring yourself; join with us in a few toasts, and throw this burden off your mind." Looking up and smiling, he replied, "Mc., you know your whisky wont help me to think; give me a dozen of the best cigars you can find, and if the ladies will excuse me for smoking, I think by the time I have finished them I shall have this job pretty nearly finished." Thus he sat; and, when the company retired, we left him there, still smoking and thinking, not having touched one drop of liquor.

When the army lay round Vicksburg during that long siege, the time that tried men's souls, I watched every moment it was possible for me to do, feeling almost certain that he would eventually succumb to the custom, alas! too universal among the officers. I was in company with a gentleman from Chicago, who while calling upon the General, remarked, "I have some very fine brandy on the boat, and if you will send an orderly with me to the river, I will send you a case or two." "I am greatly obliged," replied the General, "but I do not use the article. I have a big job on hand, and though I know I shall win, I know I must do it with a cool head. Send all the liquor you intend for me to my hospital in the rear; I don't think a little will hurt the poor fellows down there."

At a celebration on the 22d of February, before the surrender of Vicksburg, while all around were drinking toasts in sparkling champagne, I saw General Grant push aside a glass of wine, and, taking up a glass of Mississippi water, with the remark, "This suits the matter in hand," drink to the toast, "God gave us Lincoln and Liberty; let us fight for both."

I should like to give you many more like instances of my own personal experience in regard to General Grant's inebriate habits, but fear to trespass too largely upon your columns. It was a common thing to hear persons who had applied to our officers for aid in accomplishing any purpose, and received the cold shoulder, to blame them with being intoxicated; but no one who has followed General Grant for any length of time through the various campaigns, and with truth at heart, but will admit him to be one of the most enduring and self-denying patriots that ever lived, always accessible, always sober, and always ready to listen to those who tried to care for the suffering ones under his command.

Since the surrender of Vicksburg I have not seen General Grant, but feel safe in asserting that a man who could be as abstemious as I know Gen. G. to have been, during years of severe trial, will not make himself the sot many are trying to represent him.

With the old adage that "seeing is believing," I subscribe myself,

A WOMAN.

ASHLAND, Pa., April 27, '68.

Death of a Remarkable Character.

We copy the following extracts from a communication to the Altoona Tribune, relative to the life and sufferings of Jesse Alvin Jones.

He was the son of Enos M. and Mrs. —— Jones, and was born in Huntingdon county, Pa., on the 2d day of January, A. D., 1846. In A. D., 1855, when nine years of age, he was attacked with the hip joint disease which resulted in the total disability of that limb. Some two years after lumbar or psoas abscess supervened, from the racking pain and wasting discharge of which, he suffered dreadfully, and became greatly emaciated. But while tortured and emaciated by bodily disease, his mind was precociously developed. His thirst for knowledge could only be satisfied by the reading and study of books, affording substantial food for the mind, and this food was thoroughly digested by careful reflection; and thus he came to have the appearance, manner and conversation of one much older than he was. Being long a bed-ridden man, he acquired an extraordinary acquaintance with the nature, seat and treatment of his diseases, from conversation with his different physicians and from reading of books on materia medica, the practice of medicine and surgery.—Some time before his death, having conversed and reflected on the subject he satisfied himself that it was his duty not only to believe, but also to be baptized—accordingly, he invited the Rev. H. Baker, the excellent pastor of the Lutheran Church, to visit him and perform this service, and he received baptism at his hand.

He was eminently social, but only relished the conversation of the intelligent and virtuous. His love for all the family was strong, but his heart seemed to cling most closely to his mother, eldest sister and brother—and never were there more self-sacrificing attendants on the sick, than they.—Years of weary nights were spent in watching over him and ministering to his every want.

Slowly but surely disease fastened its hold upon him and penetrated his whole frame. His spine became affected, and he suffered from the accumulated agonies, and exhaustion of hip joint disease, lumbar abscess and decay of the spine. But as his body wasted, his mind became more and more developed; his conversations indicated a maturity of judgment and ripeness of experience only found in persons of advanced age. His sufferings were often intense, beyond conception, requiring enormous doses of anodynes, to afford him comparative ease. And thus, the body, steadily decaying, the mind as steadily advancing in knowledge and wonderful experience, he reached the second day of April, A. D., 1868, when at 8 o'clock, A. M., after thirteen years of suffering, endured with singular patience and fortitude—a slight convulsion ensued, and then peaceably and calmly he passed away from earth, to that mysterious bourne, whence no traveller ever returns.

He was a remarkable character, such as is seldom met with.

Statutes at Large.

AN ACT relating to railroad companies and common carriers, defining their liabilities, and authorizing them to provide means of indemnity against loss of life and personal injury.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That when any person shall sustain personal injury or loss of life while lawfully engaged or employed on or about the roads, works, depots and premises of a railroad company, or in or about any train or car therein or thereon, of which company such person is not an employee, the right of action and recovery in all such cases against the company shall be such only as would exist if such person were an employee: Provided, That this section shall not apply to passengers.

SEC. 2. That in all actions now or hereafter instituted against common carriers or corporations owning, operating or using a railroad as a public highway, whereon steam or other motive power is used, to recover for loss and damage sustained and arising either from personal injuries or loss of life, and for which, by law, such carrier or corporation could be held responsible, only such compensation for loss and damage shall be recovered as the evidence shall prove to have been pecuniarily suffered or sustained, not exceeding, in case of personal injury, the sum of three thousand dollars, nor in case of loss of life, the sum of five thousand dollars.

SEC. 3. That it shall be lawful for such carrier or corporation to insure the lives and persons of passengers against loss or injury from accidental causes, and however happening while in their charge, and for that purpose to issue and sell to such passengers applying for the same tickets or policies of insurance, specifying the name of the insured, the premium charged, the particular trip or time covered by the policy, and the amount insured, not exceeding (except at the option of the said carrier or corporation) the sum of twenty-five dollars for each week of disability, for a period not longer than twenty-six weeks in case of personal injury, nor more than ten thousand dollars in case of death; and all premiums so received shall be kept separate and apart from the other receipts of said carrier or corporation, and shall not be liable for any other claim, debt or demands against such carrier or corporation than those arising out of said policies; and the amount of said premium, and the securities in which the same are invested for the benefit and protection of such policyholders, shall be reported to the Auditor General annually, as a part of the operations of such carrier or corporation, as is now provided for by the act entitled An act requiring railroad companies to make uniform reports to the Auditor General, approved the fourth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine: Provided, nevertheless, That it shall be lawful for any such carrier or corporation, in lieu of issuing tickets of insurance as aforesaid, to keep on sale at their ticket office the policies of insurance or indemnity against personal injury or death resulting from accidental causes, issued by insurance companies incorporated for any such purposes, as shall have an actual bona fide cash capital, invested in securities approved by the Governor, State Treasurer and Auditor General of this Commonwealth of at least two hundred thousand dollars: Provided, That a recovery upon any policy issued or sold under the provisions of this act shall be no bar to a recovery under the provisions of the second section of this act.

SEC. 4. That all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed; and any provisions in the acts incorporating such common carriers or corporations, inconsistent herewith, shall be repealed upon the acceptance of the provisions of this act by such carriers or corporations; and upon the acceptance of the provisions hereof, by any carrier or corporation, the same shall become a part of its act of incorporation.

Tights

Our merchant tailors inform us that tight pantaloons are to be "all the go" the present season. Indeed we have had a sight of them already, and such a sight? It really makes us nervous to think of it. We always had an idea that men went on their muscle, but the tights disclose the sad fact that "there's nothing in them," and that our young men and more especially the fashionable portion of them are terribly demoralized. They should wear "isalc ealves," or something of that kind. Such diminutive, minute, insignificant, little spindle-shanks as they sport up and down our streets, is truly alarming, and if the fashion should increase, our High Constable will have his time fully occupied in arresting them for having no visible means of support. How they got the tarnal things on is a wonder to us. They can't put them on over their heads, as ladies put on their hoops, that's certain; and how they manage to get such huge pedals through such narrow pipe-stemical macaronies, is surprising. We have often had occasion to speak of ladies' fashions, but we cannot now call to mind any that are so ridiculous as these abominable tights, unless it be that of tight lacing. Whoever started this absurd fashion should be made to wear them all his life time.

GENERAL NEWS.

All the Clerkenwell explosion prisoners except Barrett, who was convicted, have been set at liberty.

Owing to the fact that whisky is selling at less than Government tax in New York, the revenue agent has ordered the seizure and closing up of all distilleries in that city.

It appears from the official statement that during the first three months of this year about three million three hundred thousand dollars were received from tax on distilled spirits. A few districts have failed to make returns.

Weston, the pedestrian, accomplished the task of walking one hundred and three miles in twenty-three hours and fifty-eight minutes, recently, between Erie, Pa., and Buffalo, N. Y., through a heavy snow storm and muddy roads. He receives a purse of $500 for the feat.

The total of the receipts from nearly all the collection districts in the United States proves the revenue for the last five months to be at the rate of one hundred and twenty million of dollars per year, or thirty million less than the estimate made by Special Commissioner Wells.

George F. Carpenter, ex-agent of the Merchants' Union Express Company at Davenport, Iowa, was robbed and murdered in Chicago Wednesday at night, by some unknown assassin. His body was found at seven o'clock yesterday morning by the watchman of the Illinois Central Elevator.

Smugglers have been introducing silks, opium, and cigars into San Francisco by concealing the articles in hollow logs, shipped, it is stated, from Victoria, British Columbia. The logs are bored as if to be used as water pipes, and the ends are then tapered off until the line of union with the plug, which has been inserted, is made as indistinct as possible.

Idaho advices to April 14th state that the Indians are committing depredations in Jordon Valley. It is thought the programme of the past four years is to be re-enacted by the savages—robbing, burning and murdering. The Indians had made a raid through Payette Valley, capturing and driving off stock. Troops had been sent in pursuit.

Sergeant Bates, of Wisconsin, has accomplished his feat of walking from Vicksburg to Washington, carrying the flag of the Union. He arrived at Washington on Tuesday, and was received by a committee appointed for the purpose, and after placing the flag on the Washington Monument, he was entertained at one of the hotels.

The fifteenth General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church commenced in Chicago, on Friday last, and will continue in session four weeks. Nine Bishops, 235 delegates proper, besides a large number of visiting delegates from England, Ireland, France and Canada, are expected to be present. All the States and a number of the Territories will be represented.

A Knoxville special to the Cincinnati Commercial contains the following: Governor Brownlow announced his determination to call out the militia force to suppress the lawlessness and violence which he says exist in certain parts of Middle and West Tennessee. He does it without legislative action, but relies upon the loyal people of the State to sustain him.

A dispatch dated Omaha, April 29th, says: Gen. Sherman has gone to Cheyenne this evening, and from thence will go to Fort Larnmie. He received a dispatch from the Commission stating that they will make a treaty with a part of the Ogallella and Brule Sioux Indians. To-day word was received from Red Cloud. He will come in and make peace, but it will probably be a week or ten days before his arrival.

A London paper observes: "The female communicants of several large American churches are asking whether they also have not souls, and if so, why they are excluded from choosing their minister?" It will be very difficult to answer that question, more especially as the average woman of America knows more theology of any kind than the average man, and subscribes quite as liberally.

News from Rio Janeiro to the 9th inst., is received. Dates from the seat of war on Parana are to March 25th. The Allies had taken the Paraguayan lines at Royas, and the headquarters of Marquis de Caxias were at Resso. Lopez has abandoned Peca, and his whereabouts was unknown. The Allied fleet had gone up to the river again to Fort Humaita, which was soon to be attacked. The Allies expect the Paraguayans will surrender.

Much excitement has been caused in Showhegan, Maine, over the supposed discovery that an old man named Fletcher was poisoned to death some months since in the house of Benjamin Hurd. The friends have been unable to find any trace of $20,000 in bonds reported to have been in his possession until last Wednesday, when $2,500 of the missing property was found in Hurd's house. Hurd and his house-keeper, Mrs. Loring, have been arrested and have made a partial confession, and are held to bail for trial.

A special from Omaha, dated the 30th, says advices from Plum Creek Station state that at about four o'clock yesterday afternoon, a party of thirty Indians attacked five railroad laborers and killed and scalped four. The other escaped. Only seven of the Indians were mounted. These rode up to the whites, professed friendship. They were treated kindly, and started off. After going a few paces they turned and fired. Prowling bands have been seen in that vicinity frequently of late. The military authorities are posting troops at different stations along the road.

A Japan letter states that the Refugee Tycoon sought shelter and was protected on board of a United States war vessel, after his abdication and before he reached his own ship. The United States consul at Hiago has said that the native officials must adhere to the scale of rates of money exchange value as regulated by treaties. During the disturbances in Hiago the United States marines allied with forces of other christian powers and performed important work in restoring order and protecting foreign property.

The Rahnie fibre is beginning to become an article of trade in New Orleans, and one merchant of that city has received orders for it from New York, and offers double the market rate of cotton for all he can obtain. Demand for the fibre is also springing up in the West, but no definite orders for it from that section have yet been received at New Orleans. Regarding the merits of Ramie, the Picayune says it as good as linen cambric or silk, and when it comes into use, the wearer will find that "the chief difficulty will be that it will not wear out when the fashion changes, and he will hate to throw it away, when, after a couple of years' wear, it is still as good as new."

The Central Pacific Railroad has been operated on both slopes of the Sierra Nevada mountains during April. Passengers and freight are hauled by wagons around the incomplete gap of six miles at the east end of the summit tunnel, when they again take the cars down to the Big Meadows of the Truckee, one hundred and fifty miles east of Sacramento. The track is meanwhile being graded at the foot of the mountains, and so soon as the spring rains admit the line will be pushed rapidly forward across the plains to the Humboldt Valley. It is expected three hundred miles will be in operation in August.

At a meeting of the American Industrial League at New York, Tuesday, speeches were made by Peter Cooper, Horace Greeley, Rev. Herman Baker, of Tennessee, and others. Letters were read from Senator Wade and E. B. Ward, of Detroit, sympathizing with the objects of the meeting. Resolutions were adopted favoring liberal encouragement to domestic manufactures, a revision of the tariff, increased taxes on luxuries, the discarding of ad valorem duties and introduction of specific duties to the utmost possible extent, the most stringent economy in the public service, the most rigid measures for the prevention of fraud and peculation in revenue, and the keeping of the public faith with the national creditors unbroken.

LOCAL & PERSONAL.

Brief Items.

—Mount Union is to have paved sidewalks. Well, so it ought.

—A gypsy wagon passed through our town yesterday morning. "Will you have your fortune told?"

—Mr. Jeremiah Akers, an aged and much respected citizen of Monroe tp, Bedford county, died suddenly of apoplexy on Sunday morning.

—The Altoona Tribune consolingly concludes an article on a fire in that place by saying, "of course it was the work of an incendiary."

—C. H. Miller & Son, dealers in fine leather, etc., have received from the city a fresh and ample stock of material in their line of business.

—The mill at Colerain Forges was destroyed by fire a few days since. We also learn that several thousand bushels of grain were destroyed.

—Mr. Samuel Neeper, of Bloomfield, Perry county, recently committed suicide by shooting himself through the head with a shot gun, in his stable.

—An iron fence is soon to be built around the Catholic church of this place. It will not be long, we predict, until the other churches will be adorned with the same kind.

—Everybody and his numerous relations is trying the delightful beverage from D. Africa's Ice Cream Soda Fountain, which he has fitted up at great expense.

—"That only pays for two," as the little girl said to one of our young men last week, who handed thirty-five cents for four saucers of ice cream. He instantly looked—for his pocket-book.

—The trees are beginning to put forth buds and leaves, and soon they will be loaded with blossoms, making the air redolent with perfume and presenting to the eye a beautiful and refreshing spectacle.

—There is a mare in Brown township, Mifflin county, belonging to Mr. Peachy, which gave birth to a colt which has only one eye and one jaw. It will therefore only "go one eye" on its food and eat less.

—The first game of base bawl was played here, the other day, by a small boy—occasioned by his fond parent misplacing a switch. Parent played well "on the base," and small boy scored a clean "home run."

—A little boy named George Clements, residing in Susquehanna township, Juniata county, died from the effects of lock-jaw, produced by being struck with a whip on the cheek, by his brother.

—The Huntingdon Cornet Band were treated to a supper at the Franklin House on Saturday evening last. Judging from the number of pieces they played they must have been highly entertained.

—The Cambria Freeman takes up three columns and a half in reply to an article in the Johnstown Tribune. Of course its readers will like the treat, and preserve the article as a specimen of the editor's literary ability.

—A little investigation has led to the belief that the house of Mr. Richardson, across the river, which was burned on Monday night of last week, was first robbed and then set on fire. It is unknown who did it.

—We were the happy recipients of a bowl of the luscious luxury from the Eureka Ice Cream Garden. Mr. Westbrook makes a good article, and the public know it. You who haven't tried it, ought to do so.

—A citizen of Chambersburg, while engaged in digging holes to plant trees, found quite a number of locusts in the surface of the ground. This would indicate that the year for locusts now has come.

—Johnston & Wattson, the popular merchants, have made room in their establishment next to Letterman's hotel, for an immense stock of new and desirable goods, to which they invite the attention of the public generally and the ladies in particular.

—A man was killed at Latrobe last week while attempting to steal his way on a freight train. He feared detection and tried to jump off, while the train was in motion, but, unfortunately, he missed his footing, and was thrown beneath the wheels and crushed to death.

—A young man came to town on Sunday last and thinking the town was dull buried his melancholy in as many glasses of stray stimulus as made him reely too noisy, for which he was taken to an apartment in Sheriff Bathurst's hotel, otherwise the jail.

—A National Temperance Convention is to be held in Cleveland, commencing on the 29th of July. All the Societies in the country are invited to send representatives—each allowed to send seven, two of whom to be the President and Secretary.

—The Hollidaysburg Standard, we are pleased to state, is to be enlarged next week. Bro. Traugh has evidently given up the notion that good goods are always done up in small parcels. We don't mean, of course, that the little Standard hasn't dealt in some good things.

—It is said that there are 7,000,000 dogs in this country, and we say Huntingdon has its full proportion of that number, if not more, and some nights they make as much noise as if they were of some importance. Then is the time everybody says "con-tax the dogs."

—We saw some urchins bathing, heard of men fishing, and was informed of girls swinging, all on Sunday last. Of course, this don't say that our community is becoming demoralized, but it would lead one to infer that some of our citizens have not a proper appreciation of the sacredness of the Sabbath.

—Many persons are in the habit of putting their stoves in the cellar during the summer, never thinking that the dampness acts as a powerful destructive agent upon them. They should be placed in an upper chamber or the garret, having previously been well blackened and cleaned, and then there will be no danger of rust.

Proceedings of the Town Council:

SPECIAL MEETING, April 14th, 1868. —Council met.

The oath of office was administered to Henry Glazier, Chief Burgess, and to the new members, to wit: Alexander Elliott, Assistant Burgess, George Jackson, James Port, and Thomas Carmon, Town Council.

On motion, H. G. Fisher was appointed Secretary pro tem.

On motion, the Council proceeded to the election of officers for the current year, when the following persons were duly elected:

Secretary, J. Simpson Africa.

Weigh Master, Peter Swoope.

The Chief Burgess announced the following standing committee for the current year:

Finance, Messrs. Miller, Elliott and Holfright.

Public Property, Messrs. Artley, Cunningham and Black.

Streets, Messrs. Fisher, Port and Jackson.

Vice and Immorality, Messrs. Johnston, Carmon and Artley.

On motion it was

Resolved, That until otherwise ordered, the salary of the Street Commissioner be and the same is hereby fixed at $2,25 per day.

On motion it was ordered, that the next stated meeting (1st Tuesday in May) shall be held at the office of J. Simpson Africa, at 7 o'clock, P. M.

Adjourned.

H. G. FISHER, Sec. pro tem.

THE COUNCIL MET, May 1st, 1868.—Present:

Chief Burgess, Mr. Glazier.

Assistant Burgesses, Messrs. Miller and Elliott.

Council, Messrs. Artley, Black, Carmon, Cunningham, Fisher, Holfright, Jackson, Johnson, and Port.

The reading of the minutes of the last meeting was, on motion, dispensed with.

J. Simpson Africa, Secretary elect, subscribed the oath of office and entered upon his duties.

Orders were granted as follows:

To U. B. Lewis, &c., for street lamps,	$12.30
" Huntingdon Gas Co., Gas, 13 mos.	205.80
" J. M. Cunningham, & Son, castings,	6.00
" H. Glazier, for 80 feet of lumber,	1.60
" Hetty and Maria Steel, for lumber,	4.25
" H. Glazier, Inspector of Election,	2.00
" N. Williams, Judge of Election,	2.00
" P. C. Swoope, Clerk of Election,	2.00

Bills of R. McMurtrie and J. R. Simpson were read and laid over until next meeting.

The check-roll of Geo. Glazier, late Street Commissioner, for the month of March, was read and on motion orders were granted for the amounts due on the same.

Mr. Miller offered the following which was read, considered and adopted.

WHEREAS, The pavements of Gen. A. P. Wilson on the east side of Montgomery street; that of Peter Swoope on the east side of Bath street; those of N. C. Decker and A. H. Harrison on the south side of Washington street; and that of John Moyers on Charles street west of the German Reformed Church; have not been laid as required by existing ordinances of the borough, therefore,

Resolved, That the Chief Burgess shall notify each of said parties that unless work is commenced on said pavements within ten days, the committee on streets shall proceed to have the pavements laid and collect the cost thereof from said parties according to law.

The check roll of A. H. Hight, Street Commissioner, for the month of April, was read and approved and on motion orders were granted for the amounts due on the same.

Mr. Miller read in place "an ordinance" regulating the side-walks or pavements in that part of the borough known as West Huntingdon.

On motion the rules were suspended and said ordinance was read a second and third time and passed finally.

On motion it was Ordered, That the High Constable shall notify the owners of lots fronting the western side of Charles street between Mifflin street and the Warm Springs road, to make gravel pavements in front of their respective lots within fifteen days after notice.

On motion, the Secretary was directed to ascertain as nearly as possible the indebtedness of the borough and make report thereof at the next meeting.

The Committee on streets was instructed to report at next meeting what streets in West Huntingdon should be declared public highways.

On motion an order was granted to Wm. H. King, high constable, for $40, for services during the year ending 1st Monday of April last.

On motion, the Council adjourned until 7 o'clock, P. M. on Saturday, the 16th inst.

J. SIMPSON AFRICA, Sec'y.

Sunday School Institute.

The eighth Annual Sunday School Convention and Institute for the Juniata District, will be held in the M. E. Church of this place, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, May 19th, 20th and 21st. The services of Rev. J. H. Vincent, of New York, who has had large and successful experience in the management of Sunday Schools, have been engaged for the occasion, and he will conduct the Institute. The Convention will be opened at 2 o'clock, on Tuesday afternoon, the 19th. It is anticipated that this will be the largest and most beneficial convention yet held in the district; and it is earnestly hoped that all interested in the cause of Sabbath Schools will make it convenient to attend. It will be gratifying to the laborers in the Sunday School work to have the opportunity afforded to hear the views and understand the practice of Rev. Mr. Vincent, whose ability in this particular, we are assured, is universally acknowledged, wherever he has been.

Recollections of "The House of York."

My notice of the "House of York," in connection with the death of Mr. Read, published in the Globe a few weeks ago, seems to have touched a sympathetic string in the heart of one of its old inmates, and soon a voice responsive is heard, speaking to us from the far distant and beautiful plains of Iowa, bearing evidence to the truthfulness of my remarks. The tones are familiar and I at once recognized them as coming from our friend Major Campbell. The Major in his remarks confines himself to his first year there, and his description of the boarders is just such as might be expected from his pen, well said and excellent. Poor McCay, so fond of controversy, it was very amusing to see how skillfully he could change sides, on finding you agree to an opinion advanced by himself; then so good hearted and kind, beloved by all.

My time at the "House of York" commenced later; I think in the fall of 1837, and extended to the Spring of 1841. On first going there I found all the inmates spoken of by the Major, except the Benedict family, who had gone to housekeeping. Since writing the above I have seen a communication from some writer in the Globe over the signature of B., and at first was led to believe from his general accuracy, that the writer was an old member, but when he speaks of the lamented Dickson, as having on his death bed courted and won the heart of Miss———, one of its inmates, he is slightly in error, and I presume has it from hearsay. She was not a member till sometime afterwards. The true little romantic story is as follows: Mr. Geo. M. Dickson, the young man spoken of, became an inmate of the "House of York" during my time there, I think in 1839. He was a graduate of Jefferson College, tall, intelligent, handsome, and light of foot as a young roe, and could easily outstrip any of us in the manly sports of running and leaping, so much practiced in those days.

And then the young lady was so beautiful, so interesting, so intelligent, so accomplished, fresh from boarding school, and reputed an heiress; is it to be wondered at then that she had many suitors? But then young Dickson won her affections, distancing his competitors with the same ease he could in a foot race. They first met at the residence of her step father, were mutually pleased with each other, and a friendship was soon formed which ended in love, and it was well known to their intimate friends that a marriage engagement existed, long before it was known that the fell destroyer consumption had marked him for its victim. And when in the fall of 1840 sickness confined that poor young man to the house, far from home and the endearing attentions of a fond mother, sisters and kindred, and dark clouds settled thick around him, her constant and loving heart clung to him all the more. O, it was a beautiful sight and one that the pure eyes of an angel might look on approvingly, to see her day after day call, and in company with her aunt, then an inmate of the house, render him such little endearing attentions as only the kind heart of woman knows how to bestow.

A short time before being confined to his death bed when walking with a friend in the Cemetery on the hill he inscribed with a pocket knife the letter D. on the trunk of an oak-tree* with the request that he might be buried beneath its out-spreading branches. To that spot, now marked by a plain marble stone, on which is inscribed his name, we all soon after followed his remains, sorrowing as for a brother. W.

*The axe of the wood-man, I regret to say, spared not that tree; nothing but the stump now remains.

HUNTINGDON, May 1868.

Presentation.

We had the pleasure of witnessing an interesting ceremony on Friday evening last, at the Jackson House of this place. About a dozen of the boarders, who have organized themselves into a society styled the Fraternity of Johns, were met in session in the parlor for the purpose of presenting a silk hat to the proprietor, Mr. Wm. Long. That gentleman appearing shortly after they had met, Mr. "John" B. was called upon to deliver the presentation speech, which he did in a neat and impressive manner. After the presentation ceremony was concluded, remarks were made by several of the "Johns" present, which combined the sublime, ludicrous and sentimental. Throughout the evening the enjoyment was uninterrupted, and all who were present have a "fixed" pleasure since in referring to the good time on Friday night.

☞ Gone to the city: Mr William March. What for: why for his Spring stock of goods of all description, which he will have at his store room this week. He is thankful to his old patrons that they have helped themselves to his goods, and he particularly invites the ladies to call and examine his patterns and styles of dry goods. †

☞ Dr. Witmer, of Philadelphia, will be at the Franklin House, Huntingdon, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, 16th 17th and 18th of May, to consult with the sick and afflicted of all diseases, and furnish medicines for their cure without fail. See adv. in another column. 2t

☞ The Rev. John Hewitt having engaged a competent assistant—a graduate of the Medical University of Maryland—on the 6th inst. intends to open in conjunction with his school for boys in the Huntingdon Academy, a Select School for girls.

Coming.

The finest stock of goods ever brought to Huntingdon, will be opened out at Johnston & Wattson's this week. For beauty, quality and cheapness they cannot be excelled. Ladies' dress goods of all descriptions. †

A New Stock.

Z. Yenter has just laid in a stock of new goods, such as dry-goods, groceries, etc., etc., and invites the public generally to give him a call.

A Destructive Fire at Mill Creek.

On Tuesday afternoon last, a locomotive fired the roof of a Warehouse at Mill Creek, and the fire spread rapidly, completely destroying the following buildings:

The Warehouse occupied by E. A. Green & Co., with $200 worth of fish and salt, some seventy bushels of grain belonging to Samuel Simpson, and some other property.

The Hotel (Buchanan's) occupied by Wm. Kerr—loss about $1800 in liquors, furniture, etc. No insurance.

S. H. Shoemaker occupied a part of the Hotel building—his loss was two-thirds of his property. No insurance.

A double dwelling occupied by Jesse Benton and widow Horrell—part of their furniture only saved. Mrs. Horrell lost $52 in money. No insurance.

A dwelling occupied by Samuel Flenner—a part of his furniture was saved. No insurance.

A large hotel stable with contents.

The buildings were all owned by Samuel Simpson. No insurance.

The building occupied by Mr. Simpson, and the Store stand occupied by Mr. Green & Co. were saved by the unceasing labor of the citizens. Bedding and other property was destroyed after being removed a good distance from the burning buildings. Mr. Simpson's loss must be in the neighborhood of $10,000.

☞ We have received two of the engravings published by L. D. Robinson 46 Main St., Springfield, Massachusetts. "The Ideal Heads of American Women" are most beautiful, and we have no doubt will meet with ready sale. Agents wanted by the publisher. See advertisement. The engravings can be seen at our Book Store.

G. A. R.

A regular meeting of Post No. 33, Grand Army of the Republic, will be held at the usual place of meeting, on Tuesday evening, May 8th, at 8 o'clock. Officers will be elected for the ensuing term, applications for membership considered and newly elected members initiated. 2t

☞ Miss D. L. Baker respectfully informs the public, that she is now ready to oblige all that may favor her with their custom. Dress making and sewing of all kinds done. She is agent for the Florence Sewing Machine. See advertisement in another column. 2t.

Call and See.

Mr. Geo. Shaeffer has on hand a large stock of new boots and shoes which he offers to the public at reasonable prices. Call and examine his stock and prices. He will try to give satisfaction. †

Agents Wanted for

THE OFFICIAL HISTORY

OF THE WAR,

ITS CAUSES, CHARACTER, CONDUCT AND RESULTS.

By Hon. ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS.

A Book for all Sections and all Parties.

This great work presents the only complete and impartial analysis of the Causes of the War yet published, and gives those interior lights and shadows of the great conflict only known to those high officers who watched the flood-tide of revolution from its fountain springs, and which were so accessible to Mr. Stephens from his position as second officer of the Confederacy.

To a public that has been surfeited with APPARENTLY SIMILAR PRODUCTIONS, we promise a change of fare, both agreeable and salutary, and an intellectual treat of the highest order. The Great American War has AT LAST found a historian worthy of its importance, and at whose hands it will receive that moderate, candid and impartial treatment which truth and justice so urgently demand.

The intense desire every where manifested to obtain this work, its official character and ready sale, combined with an increased commission, make it the best subscription book ever published.

One Agent in Easton, Pa., reports 73 subscribers in three days.

One in Boston, Mass., 103 subscribers in four days.

One in Memphis, Tenn., 105 subscribers in five days.

Send for circulars and see our terms, and a full description of the work, with Press notices of advance sheets, &c. Address NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO. ap29-4t. 20 South Seventh St., Philadelphia, Pa.

THOUGHTS FOR THE FARMER.

COMPILED FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

Potatoes—Finish planting before the middle of the month; it is unsafe to delay longer, though, if the season be a wet one, like the last, June-planted potatoes may do tolerably well. Manure at the first or second hoeing with ashes and plaster, lime, or some concentrated manure, cast in small handfuls upon the plants, if backward, or the soil not rich.

Birds and Insects.—Some birds may still be attracted by bird-houses, though most have their nests already built.—Do all possible to encourage a feeling of security on their part. They are our best allies in the warfare against insects of all hurtful kinds. Look out for the nests of the tent-caterpillar; destroy when the worms are housed.

Cultivating the Orchard, especially if a young orchard. Very few will cultivate the ground for the sake of the young trees alone, and it is well to put between the rows of trees such crops as require manure and frequent working. Potatoes, carrots, or whatever will leave the soil in as good condition as to fertility as it was before, may be used.

Spruce up.—If you get a moment to spare, spruce up; put that gate on its hinges, put a little paint on the picket fence you built last year, trim up about your yard-door, make it cozy and inviting—don't say you can't find time for these things: the fact is you have no right to be slovenly—your wife and children will be the happier, your farm will sell for more money in the market and will be worth more to you at home if you devote an odd hour now and then to sprucing up.

Cows—When there is a good strong growth of grass, turn the cows to pasture, but not before. Calves, wearing muzzles set with nails which are well sharpened, but not slender pointed, may run with their dams without danger of their sucking. Cows "coming in" on full feed, often make more milk than their udders have capacity to retain, if milked out twice a day. Neglect to milk oftener causes not only the loss of a pint or two which leaks out daily, but induces a tendency in the cow to secrete less, entailing a loss through the year.

The Corn Crop—Be sure of your seed. It should be early, uniform, and adapted to your land. Manure heavily; plant all, except very large kinds, in drills, rather than in hills with rows running both ways. A heavier stand is thus gained, the ground well filled with roots. Be careful to have the rows very straight, and to this end, use a marker. North of lat. 40°, be in no hurry about planting—if the crop is in by the 20th or 25th, it is early enough, and replanting will not be necessary.

Weeds—The warfare begins this month push it forward. "Whenever you see a head, hit it,"—as is the order of the day at a Donnybrook fair—or better yet, wherever you can find a root, kill it. Remember, weeds may be killed in the seed leaf by thousands, with the same labor and less thought than will be required to kill them by scores after they have grown. When very small, even stirring the soil in moist weather kills many; when large unless great pains be taken, though uprooted, a slight rain will revive them, and they will mature seed as if transplanted for their own good.

Saw-dust as Manure.—The common practice of throwing this article into the streams on which saw-mills are situated, is reprehensible. It would not pay to spread it upon a muck swamp, but any sandy land, or light, gravelly loam, deficient in vegetable matter, it would prove a good dressing, and in time would show good results. The best use we have ever seen it put to, was bedding for animals in stables. It is an excellent absorbent, and will keep cows clean, even better than straw. It is also a very light, handy article in the hennery, and more cleanly to handle than muck in common, open, privy vaults. The article is inexhaustable in cities, and is quite extensively used upon floors in eating saloons, and for other purposes. At country mills, it can generally be had for the carting, as mill owners are glad to be rid of it. It is a good substitute for straw, and this is now worth so much for manufacturing purposes, in many parts of the country, that no thrifty farmer can afford to use it for bedding.

Insects will begin their work as soon as there is any young growth to work on, and if not checked continue it to the injury of the trees. Don't stop to write to us, to ask what shall be done, but kill the insects when first discovered, by some means. We have written in these past years enough about the tent-caterpillar to fill a small volume. We have shown its eggs, and set forth the importance of removing these. Where this has been thoroughly done, there will be but little trouble. Where it has been neglected, they will not "fold up their tents like the Arabs," but just keep spreading them all the time. Wherever a nest or tent is seen, no matter how small—and they are very conspicuous when the dew is on them in the morning—do not rest until the nest is destroyed. Bend down the limb, climb the tree, get a step ladder, or in some way reach the nest, and pull it out and crush the young brood. Some use swabs charged with soft soap, petroleum, or other substances. These will do if faithfully applied, but to our notion there is nothing as sure as pulling the nest off by hand, and putting it under foot. The squeamish may wear gloves. Borers are to be probed or cut out. We haven't much faith in squirting any preparation into their holes. The circulio will now begin its work, and must be met at once. Avoid all vaunted remedies and washes, but follow the only sure plan yet known—jarring the trees, catching the insect on a large cloth, and killing it. The white grub will often make sad havoc among seedlings and young nursery stock. When a young tree in the row wilts, dig down and find the borer and kill him. Lice or aphides will appear on the young growth. If the trees are small, bend down the ends of the infested twigs, and immerse them in tobacco water or quassia water.—Agriculturist.

TREASURER'S SALE OF UNSEATED LANDS IN HUNTINGDON COUNTY.

WHEREAS, by an act of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, entitled "An act to amend an act directing the mode of selling unseated lands for taxes and other purposes," passed 13th March, 1815, and the other acts upon the subject, the Treasurers of the several counties within this Commonwealth are directed to commence on the 2d Monday in June, in the year 1810, and at the expiration of every two years thereafter, and adjourn from day to day, if it be necessary to do so, and make public sale of the whole or any part of such tract of unseated land, situate in the proper county, as will pay the arrearages of the taxes which shall have been remitted due or unpaid for the space of one year before, together with all costs accessarily accruing by reason of such delinquency, &c. Therefore, I, M. M. LOGAN, Treasurer of the county of Huntingdon, do hereby give notice that upon the following tracts of unseated land, situate as hereinafter described, the several sums stated are the arrearages of taxes, respectively, due and unpaid for one year, and that in pursuance of the direction of the above said Act of Assembly, I shall, on MONDAY, THE 8TH DAY OF JUNE NEXT, at the Court House, in the borough of Huntingdon, commence the Public Sale of the whole or any part of such tracts of unseated land, upon which all or any part of the taxes herein specified shall then be due; and continue such sale by adjournment until all the tracts upon which the taxes shall remain due and unpaid, shall be sold.

M. M. LOGAN,
Treas. of Hunt. Co.

Treasurer's Office, April 1, 1865.

TO THE AFFLICTED!

AN ARTICLE OF REAL MERIT!

FOSTER'S

ORIENTAL

BITTERS,

A Remedy that has been tried and stood the test, not only in an occasional case, but in every community where used it has been pronounced the safest and most reliable remedy known for

DYSPEPSIA,

LOSS OF APPETITE,

WEAKNESS,

GENERAL DEBILITY,

PAIN OR CRAMP IN THE STOMACH OR BOWELS,

CHOLERA MORBUS,

HEADACHE,

NEURALGIA,

INTERMITTENT, OR CHILLS

AND FEVER,

LIVER TONIC,

AND FOR ALL FEMALE DISEASES.

As an agreeable and safe remedy and an Invigorating Beverage it has no equal.

This valuable Bitters is composed of the essential properties of roots—the medicinal qualities of which have been carefully extracted. It is agreeable to the taste and does not leave that unpleasant taste in the mouth for hours after, that most medicines do.

As a Blood Purifier and Liver Tonic it has no equal.—It contains no calomel or other injurious drug, but is purely vegetable.

For Dyspepsia it cannot be excelled. It contains nothing injurious to the stomach, is mild and prompt in its action and effects a permanent cure by removing the cause of the complaint.

For Intermittent Fever or Chills and Fever this Bitters is a specific far better and surer than quinine.

No family should be without it as the cost is trifling compared with the suffering that may be avoided by having it at hand in case of sudden attack.

Weakly Persons use the Oriental Bitters.

Invalids use the Oriental Bitters.

Dyspeptics use the Oriental Bitters.

Females use the Oriental Bitters.

No more Bald Heads!

No more Gray Locks!

DR. LEON'S

ELECTRIC HAIR RENEWER,

Is pronounced by all who have used it the very best preparation for the Hair. It is a positive cure for Baldness, eradicates Dandruff and Humors, stops the hair from falling out, and speedily restores Gray Locks to their original hue and luxuriance.

It operates on the secretions and fills the glands with new life and coloring matter. Thin, dead, faded or gray hair will always be brought back by a few applications, to its youthful abundance, vitality and color.

It makes the hair soft, glossy, fragrant, pleasant to the touch and easy to arrange. Dry, wiry and intractable locks become moist, pliant and disposed to remain in any desired position. As a Hair Dressing it has no equal.—The sales are enormous and it is a universal favorite with old and young of both sexes.

Sold by Druggists throughout the United States. Address all orders to SPEER'S PORT GRAPE WINE!

Excellent for Females and Weakly Persons.

Used by hundreds of Congregations for Church or Communion purposes.

VINEYARDS—Los Angeles, California, and Passaic, New Jersey.

SPEER'S PORT GRAPE WINE, Four Years Old. This justly celebrated native Wine is made from the juice of the Oporto Grape raised in this country. Its invaluable Tonic and Strengthening Properties are unsurpassed by any other native wine. Being the pure juice of the grape produced under Mr. Speer's own personal supervision, purity and genuineness are guaranteed. The youngest child may partake of its generous qualities, and the weakest invalid may use it to advantage. It is particularly beneficial to the aged and debilitated, and suited to the various ailments that afflict the weaker sex. It is in every respect A WINE TO BE RELIED ON.

Invalids use Speer's Port Grape Wine; Females Use Speer's Port Grape Wine; Weakly Persons Find a Benefit by its Use; Speer's Wines in Hospitals are preferred to other Wines.

WM. T. HOPKINS "OWN MAKE" OF "KRYSTONE SKIRTS."

are the best and CHEAPEST Low Priced Hoop Skirts in the market. Trail skirts, 23 springs, $1.00; 30 springs, $1.20; and 40 springs, $1.45. Plain Skirts, 6 tapes, 20 springs, 80 cents; 23 springs, 85 cents; 30 springs, $1.15; and 35 springs, $1.25. Warranted in every respect.

"Our OWN Make" of "UNION SKIRTS," eleven Tape Trails, from 20 to 60 springs, $1.50 to $2.50. Plain Six Tapes, 20 to 36 springs, from 95 Cents to $2.00. These Skirts are better than those sold by other establishments as first class goods and at much lower prices.

"Our OWN Make" of "CHAMPION SKIRTS" are in every way superior to all other Hoop Skirts before the public, and only have to be examined or worn to convince every one of the fact. Manufactured of the best linen-finished English Steel Springs, very superior tapes, and the style of the metalic fastenings and manner of securing them surpass for durability and excellence any other skirt in this country, and are lighter, more elastic, will wear longer, give more satisfaction, and are really cheaper than all others. Every lady should try them.—They are being sold extensively by merchants throughout this and the adjoining States at very moderate prices If you want the best, ask for "Hopkin's Champion Skirt." If you do not find them, get the merchant with whom you deal to order them for you, or come or send direct to us. Merchants will find our different grades of Skirts exactly what they need, and we especially invite them to call and examine our extensive assortment, or send for Wholesale Price-List.

To be had at Retail at Manufactory, and of the Retail Trade generally, and at Wholesale of the Manufacturer only, to whom all orders should be addressed.

VERGNE'S IMPROVED

OIL.

A chemical preparation of Lard, or Lard Oil, neutralizing its attraction for GUMS—the source of gum, &c., and imparting to it (by chemical affinity) a property of

ATTRACTION FOR METALS,

whereby it is retained, in lubrication,

CONTINUOUSLY PURE

from at least 25 to 50 per cent. longer than sperm oil.

BY BBL. $2.10; CASE, OR 200 GALLONS, $2.05 PER GALLON.

To provide against leakage, etc., and for the convenience of small consumers and retailers, the Oil is put up, in the required quantities, at an advance to cover the cost of the can, and a reasonable retail profit:

5 gallo., square can,	-	$12	43—Case, 2	12 Doz.	- $24 86
3 " " "	-	7	62— " 2	12 "	- 15 24
1 " " "	-	2	74— " 6	12 "	- 16 44
½ " " "	-	1	40— " 1	"	- 17 62

Cans credited on return in order. Discount by case, to retail dealers.

SEWING MACHINE OIL.

The Oil is also put up as a Sewing Machine and Armor Oil, in 2 to 4 oz., (white flint,) 25 cents—packed in one doz., ½ and ¼ gross cases; in 8oz., 50 cents—packed in 1, 4 and 8 doz. cases; and in 24 oz., $1.00—packed in ½, 1 and 2 doz. cases; sold by sewing Machine agents, 1st class Druggists, Grocers and Country Merchants. Orders received through the trade.

The winter standard of the Oil is 35° to 40° Fah't.

Oil in casks and bbls. subject to return and credit within 15 days, sample lots 30 days, after date of delivery, if not satisfactory.
